The movie is the remake of the Malayalam film Thirakkatha. The film is inspired by the 19th century Maratha poet, Maharaja Thakur Dev Singh of Jaitapur. A fresh rendition of Thirakkatha starring Sunny Deol, Amrita Rao and Urvashi Rautela, will hit the screens next year. This will be the third time Sunny Deol is seen on the silver screen as an antagonist after Ram Teri Ganga Maili and Singh Is Kinng. The film will be directed by Anil Sharma. Sunny Deol and Amrita Rao are expected to play the lead roles in the film. This film will be the second time the two characters are paired together after Singham Returns (2012). A poster of the film was released in December 2013 in Dubai. Singh Saab is scheduled to be released on 2 February 2014 worldwide. Plot The film starts with an elderly Ravi (Sunny Deol) walking on the road of Jaitapur. He is accompanied by his pet monkey, Akaash (Lakshmikant-Vijay). Ravi is dressed in a white embroidered dhoti and a yellow-coloured turban. Ravi comes across a play being held at the grounds of a palace. He decides to attend the play. It turns out to be a puppet show, where a puppet (Urvashi Rautela) is being controlled by a puppeteer (Shashi Puri). The puppet starts to mimic a young Maharaja (Sunny Deol), wearing a black T-shirt with white letters, a red velvet coat and a red moustache. Ravi decides to attend the play. While Ravi and Akaash are enjoying the play, Ravi's granddaughter, Pallavi (Amrita Rao) comes there. Pallavi is dressed in a T-shirt and pants. She is accompanied by her friend, Asha (Isha Koppikar). When the young Maharaja sees Pallavi, he turns to Ravi and asks him to provide his granddaughter with a dowry. Ravi refuses the offer. Pallavi feels sad and decides to leave. The Maharaja notices Pallavi and follows her. As he attempts to grab her, Ravi decides to fight him. Ravi defeats the puppet and it becomes the real Maharaja. Maharaja questions Ravi as to how he came there. Ravi is taken away by 82157476af
